Place in the Sun Sauvignon Blanc 2015 – 25.09.2015

Place in the Sun Sauvignon Blanc 2015

The Place in the Sun Wines are made in the Zonnebloem Wine Cellar at Adam Tas in Stellenbosch under Cellarmaster Deon Boshoff and are made to the identical standards for which Zonnebloem is internationally renowned. Wines of distinction and elegance, bold and express generously the character of the varieties used.

Elize Coetzee, White Winemaker for Place in the Sun Wines

The grapes for the Place in the Sun Sauvignon Blanc 2015 come from a family farm in the Devon Valley and are certified by FLO-CERT under the Fair Label Organisation Standards that for part of Fairtrade. South Africa is the largest producer of Fairtrade wine globally, with 28 producer organisations, and accounted for two-thirds of Fairtrade wine sales in 2013. Money from the sale of each bottle goes to a worker's committee on the farm where it is used for preschool care, care for retired farms workers and for tertiary education. Alvercia Julies will graduate with a nursing degree from UWC at the end of the year.

The grapes are hand picked and travel through the destalking and pressing quickly in the absence of oxygen, and no skin contact to retain the freshness and the natural fruit flavours.

It looks like

Bordeaux bottle with the label representing the rays of the sun – which shines for over 300 days per year. In the glass it is an inviting pale straw with youthful lime green flashes.

It smells like

Granadilla pulp, aromatic litchis and ripe white-fleshed peaches.

It tastes like

The granadilla of the nose is joined by guava and winter melon. Nice and broadly flavoured and zippy from entry to the long dry fruity aftertaste.

Nina Timm's Chicken Roll

It's good with

This is a delicious glass on its own or as an aperitif before a meal. It matches light spring and summer time dishes taken al fresco. Nina Timm makes a delicious Chicken Roll which is a perfect match for the wine. Click here to get her recipe.
